THE GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED

Yesterday's election in British Columbia resulted in a Liberal victory, and Mr. T. D. Pattullo's Government will remain in power, with a reduced majority. The Conservatives have definitely returned to provincial politics and will, during the next Legislature, constitute the official Opposition. What their actual count will be remains undecided, and it is the same with the candidates of the C.C.F. Party. The latter appear to have been successful in winning at least four seats, and final counts may give them one or two more. Thus their strength remains much the same as it was at the last general election. The new parties, Social Constructives and Social Crediters, made a poor showing and failed to

It is an excellent thing that the Government will have a more powerful Opposition in the next not think of the poppy as a weed. There are few Legislature than it has had during its last term who regard the purple and spotted orchis and of office. The election was keenly contested, and the Conservatives deserve every congratulation kind of soil in which they grow. Old man's beard on the excellent showing they made, despite the short time they were engaged in organization. It is difficult to understand from the result, because of its character, that any particular policy bulked largely in the mind of the electorate. Probably the issues were viewed differently in different constituencies. When the aggregate of votes is as- up watercourses; sometimes they are poisonou sembled it will be found that the Liberals have to stock. Bracken ousts pasture grasses, it haronly a minority of those cast, which can hardly bors rabbits, it promotes forest fires. There are be interpreted as giving them a mandate for any few ways of combating the enemy weed, save policy that was stressed in the course of the through sustained and general vigilance, so the

There is a very definite trend of public opinion against this doctrine of State Medicine, and it is to be hoped that the Liberals will drop it from their platform now that the people have spoken. The decition campaign throughout was conducted. Sectoria constituency, in pasterday's promincial with the minimum of acrimony, and the result election. As generally expected, Mr. John Hart, awaited with a certain apathy unusual in such the Minister of Finance, headed the poll, followed contests. It appears, indeed, as if other events public eye at this time.

B.C. MARKETING ACT

The Supreme Court of British Columbia has found that the Marketing Act of this Province, that designed to effect compulsory marketing, is ultra vires. Thus, unless a higher court rules otherwise, the Provincial marketing boards are left without authority to enforce their regulations. The law Mr. Justice Manson characterizes as "mistaken." In handing down judgment he took occasion to allude to the "Special Powers Act" as delegating to the Executive Council powers which would mean the establishment of Fascism in this Province." Mr. Justice Manson makes it understood that the law has no concern with the merits or demerits of political systems, but it has concern to see that the Constitution is not subverted.

In the interests of justice to the growers, and in the light of the finding of the Supreme Court, the British Columbia Marketing Act in all its ramifications should be suspended. If it is ultravires it is not operative and should not be persisted with pending the finding of a higher court. It should remain in abeyance. It is an instance of dragooning legislation to which the Liberal Government of British Columbia has been so prone One of the inequities of such legislation is that private individuals, or companies, have to pay for legal advice to find out that the Legislature has exceeded its powers. This is all wrong. They ld be put to no expense to prove that making body has blundered. The Government and the Legislature should be made to pay all expenses in connection with their own mistakes It is true that means that the taxpayers are mulcted, but the taxpayers are the voters, and they should not elect to office those who perpetrate legislation that the Attorney-General's Department should be able to advise them is beyond their jurisdiction. British Columbia has earned an unenviable reputation for abortive legislation, and a period should be put to wanton extravagance in this particular.

ECHOES MR. ROOSEVELT'S VIEWS

One of Mr. Mackenzie King's speeches before the Imperial Conference indicates that he has been influenced by his recent visit to the White House. It was an echo of Mr. Roosevelt's views. In effect, what Mr. King suggested to the Conference, and presumably specifically to Great Britain, is that for the promotion of world trade and world peace, some of the "barriers" erected by the Ottawa Economic Conference, and confirmed in the new agreement between Canada and Great Britain, should be lowered or removed. It is the desire of the United States that intra-Empire trade should not be developed to the detriment of her own trade, and seemingly this is the viewpoint put forward by the Canadian Prime

If Mr. Mackenzie King correctly interprets the attitude of his Government, then there is some inconsistency at Ottawa. A correspondent of The Montreal Gazette points out that the Federal Government, while seeing to it that Great Britain did no lower the trade barriers against American natural products in the latest agreement, herself greatly reduced the number of items on which the margin was against such countries as the United States. In other words, Canada has insisted upon the retention of barriers against trade between Great Britain and the United States while paving the way for mutual concessions between this country and her neighbor. The same correspondent says the persuasive talk of Mr. clear

The Daily Colonist will not be nearly no effective "as an intimation from Canada's Prime Minister that his Government will release Great Britain from a few of the bound margins which are preventing American apples, canned salmon and lumber from reaching the British market in substantial quantities."

Mr. King's attitude is, to say the least, extraordinary. After having negotiated a trade treaty with Great Britain, he wants some of the ad-vantages which it gives to be nullified in favor of American trade. It would be far better if, at a gathering like the Imperial Conference, he would speak solely from the standpoint of the interests of Canada, or of the Empire as a whole, and leave the United States to fight its own battles in the international arena. Obvio Mr. King was influenced by his talks with President Roosevelt, but he should not have been influenced to the extent of advocating plans which would decrease intra-Empire trade.

THE ENEMY WEED

Professor Salisbury, in his book "The Living Garden," says that a weed is "a plant growing where we do not want it." An American professor has estimated that weeds cost the United State $3,000,000,000 a year, and that their toll is twice as great as that which motor cars exact. Weeds, however, have their uses and perhaps have many others still unknown. Rye has been developed from a weed in wheatfields to be a cereal crop cultivated in the higher lands of the Near East Flax, oats and buckwheat can be traced to weeds There are economic uses for chicory, dandelion and the stinging nettle. Out of the latter a delectable soup can be made. In the United States quackgrass is used as lawn grass in New England and the Middle West.

Sir Stephen Tallents, writing in The Londo Times, points out that weeds have aesthetic value Those who fought on the fields of Flanders do who regard the purple and spotted orchis and is the sign of a calcareous soil. There is a list of weeds found in a soil favorable to the growth of the cricket bat willow. Sir Stephen, however, says that weeds complicate the toil of crop cultivation and harvesting, and, both directly and indirectly, add to the cost of farming. They choke grim game of fighting them must go on costing Health insurance appears to have been de- in the aggregate untold millions and providing

VICTORIA'S RESULT

Liberals and Conservatives broke even in the by Dr. J. D. Hunter (Conservative), Mr. Herbert of wider significance bulk more largely in the Anscomb (Conservative) and Mr. W. T. Straith (Liberal). The contest was an exceedingly close one, with the two main parties as the contenders.

It is obvious from the outcome that the C.C.F. Party is on the decline in this constituency, while Social Credit can hardly be said to have any hold at all on public opinion. It is in order to extend ngratulations to both winners and losers for the exceptionally clean fight which was waged in Victoria. It was a credit to the community.

Mr. Norman Whittaker (Liberal) retains his seat in Saanich, and the Conservatives won Esquimalt with a new candidate, following Mr. R. H. Pooley, who had held the seat for so long. Both these members-elect are popular. The former has already won his spurs, and Mr. Finland (Esquimalt) will undoubtedly prove an acquisition to the Conservative ranks vilian flying? Are you ready for the days when, not the minority but the majority of business peop will use the air as a fixed mediu of travel? It is coming, and fast, too; and with it will be a complete change in our habits of travel. By the end of this year it is probable you could be in Victoria today, in Newfoundland tomorrow, and in London the next day; and make the round trip from here within a week. By the end of this year it is probable that you may fly, if you choose, from Victoria, British Columbia, to Victoria, Hong Kong in five days, and return here via Victoria, Australia, inside of ten days. It is probable that Edmonto securely planted in middle western Canada, will one day be a jumping off place for Europe, via the Arcti Circle; and that North America an South America will be spanned throughout their entire length wi the same relative facility to the public that they now enjoy in stepping into a car in Vancouver and driving to Alberta. The world had better calm down and grow peace ful, for the same flights can be made in faster time by military air craft on a much more serious mis Internationally speaking every nation's back door is now o the front porch of its neighbor, an business had much better be don peacefully in the living room than argumentatively over the back fenomen

For long has this column con-ended that both in altitude and in the coming size of aircraft, the trend of aviation is up. Bleriot's and Latham's monoplanes were little more than man-lifting kites. Today twenty, forty, sixty flying tons are being lifted off the ground and taken for distances of severa thousand miles without refueling through the ten, twenty, thirty forty, and even fifty thousand feet levels into the lower layers of the stratosphere. Gasoline has given way, in part, to diesel fuel, with great and surprising consequence for the larger, heavy duty type of aircraft. Speeds with high-test MUST BE DIGNIFIED gasoline have mounted through the 100, 200, 300 and 400 mile an hour rates; with anything less than 200 miles an hour today considered slow Planes are being heated along their leading edges, and use other denavigation has made progress Whereas today we speak of the Trans-Atlantic and Trans-Pacific 'air-liners," after a few more tonorrows we will realize that these nachines are comparative to ocean going tugs. Real air liners will have arrived, and they may eventually be as large as their sea sisters are today. The whole trend of aviation is up. Size and speed have doubled and redoubled, and now public patronage is coming fast.

All of which brings us to the open question of what Victoria is doing about it. It takes flying weather to 23 fly, and we have the fly, and we have that, every day 24 in the year. It is too late in the 25 28 day to be put off with promises-

This column, like its predecessors, is being written under the disadvantage of speed and pressure of other matters. There is not time to search for subjects that will interest. Electors are on their way to the ballot boxes in forty ridings, and by the time this appears in print, the issue will have been de cided. Then, perhaps, we can all forget politics for a while, and get on with the business of living. Throughout British Columbia hamwinches are creaking with their oads of fish. Tramp steamers are settling comfortably down further

Prairie Province Announces Third Default in Last Fourteen Months

EDMONTON, June 1 ().-Third default on a major bond maturity by Alberta's Social Credit Government in fourteen months, the Prov-ince failed to meet a $1,650,000 issue maturing today. Alberta will continue to pay interest on the bonds at the halved rate adopted

After requests to the Dominio Government and the Bank of Can-a a for financial assistance to meet the issue proved unavailing, Pro-vincial Treasurer Solon Low anunced the Province would default on the maturity, payable in both Canada and United States. Issues involved in two previous defaults, on a $3,200,000 issue, April

Expressing regret at being forced to default, Mr. Low said the Gov-ernment hoped to arrange for pay-ment of all defaulted issues, and added that to pay the present maturity and dis At the same time, the Provincial Treasurer announced the Govern-ment hoped to arrange a refunding scheme to include all the Prov ince's funded debt of almost

Catch From Bertie

Being in the tobacco business, it was perfectly natural for Broad Street Bertie to spring upon us a problem involving cigarettes. Quoth he: "If a man collected forty-nine cigarette butts, and it took seven butts to make one cigarettes, how many cigarettes did he make out of the forty-nine did he make out of the forty-nine butts?" Naturally we answered: "Seven cigarettes." Bertie burbled: "Wrong. I don't believe you ever went to school." We refrained from flattening him against a counter and asked why we were wrong. "The man made eight cigarettes from the forty-nine butts," he chuckled. "He saved the seven butts of the cigarettes made from the forty-nine and with them made the eighth cigarette." nine and with them made the eighth cigarette," the little man smirked . . . We noticed a touching little incident at an election meeting in Saanich on Monday evening. A dear old soul, reminding us of the song, "Little Old Lady," stepped up to a candidate and fastened a feature of the song and the song a candidate and fastened a feature of the song and the song a candidate and fastened a feature of the song and the song a candidate and fastened a feature of the song a song and the song a so a candidate and fastened a four-leaf clover in his buttonhole with a sweet, motherly smile . . . A lot has been said about the weird lot has been said about the weird hats sported by women this season, but it remained for our to-bacconist friend to try and put one of them to practical use. His charming wife laid her new hat on the dining-room table at lunch time. Before the tobacconist realized what he was doing, he buttered the hat and was on the point of stuffing it into his mouth.—G.B.

Ghost Town

Some day, if you would relive a past not many years gone, drive south to Haslam's Creek and turn steep road between the piles of grass-crested slack that plies or grass-created stack that leads to Cassidy, once a model coal mining town. The shaft is board-ed up, the tipple rusting, the boarding house still. The blackboarding house atili. The black-smith shop, once loud with the staccato crash of the steam ham-mer, is bolted. The manager's house on the hill is vacant, and house on the null is vacant, and there is grass growing on the playing field, weeds in the tennis court. The great smoke stack points silently skyward, the vast machine shop gathers only dust on the once-bright benches. Some of the fine homes have been de-moilshed, and the trees that once fringed the boulevards are unplace there was once the lively that usually some place there was once the lively that usually some place there was once the lively that usually some place there were children shouting at Thours of the day.

Ghosts walk in Cassidy, as they walked on Mount Sicker, and almost walked in Ladysmith. And so they will in many another Island comwill in many another Island com-munity, unless the remaining in-dustries on this Island are con-served sanely and well.—B.O.

Real Hosts

When it comes to entertaining guests, we have to admit the boys at the Garrison rate tops with us. We had the pleasure of visiting Work Point Barracks last Satur-day afternoon to take in the Garrison track and field champie ships and had a fine afternoon, thanks to the many courtesies ex-tended by the members of the permanent force . These sol-dier lads really did things in a big way, a pleasing way, a way which made you feel at home and certainly glad you were among der of the guests, and it was all free . . And speaking of Work Point, the veterans, those boys who donned the uniform many years ago and are now spendian. them . . . There was ice cream, pop and hot dogs for the kiddles together in a songsters' chorus and, according to their leader, they really can vocalize. The party consists of Sub-Conductor Nicholls, R.C.O.C.; Staff-Sergeant olis, R.C.O.C.; Staff-Sergeant Greenley, R.C.O.C.; S.M.S. I. Worswick, R.C.R.; Staff-Sergeant "Tijch" Buxton, R.C.A.; Sergeant-Major Baggs, R.C.E.; Conductor Morgan, R.C.O.C., and "Buster" Brown, that versatile actor, as leader. Their total service amounts to approximately 200 years, quite a long time to be wearing the uniform.-S.T.

Glancing Over Sport I see where George Godfrey, famous colored heavyweight confamous colored heavyweight contender back in Jack Dempsey's day, wants to get a fight licence from the California State Commission. George says he is in fine shape again. He has reduced from 296 pounds to 265, and states he is only thirty-five. But the commission don't want to see Old George roaming around the ring again, for they figure he is forty or more.—Los Angeles Red Devilis softball team, which may play in finally conceding only two clubs and a diamond.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of June 2, 1887).

West Coast Quartz—W. Halpenny, Government suide, returned on Tuesday evening from the West Coast, where he has been on a prospecting trip. Through the accuracy of an Indian he was suided to a point four days from Alberni and about ten miles from Bear River, where a ledge thirty to forty feet in width was cough traveling and at times snow five feet in depth was passed over on snowahoes. The traveling was so rough that only a small quantity-of the rock could be secured, but assays will be made from these and another trip shortly made to the point in better weather. The ledge is described as extendise up the mountain for fully a mile. It is stated that traces of cold and stince up the mountain for fully a mile. It is stated that traces of cold and strong the reducemby men within it the district, and it is she intention of a number of men to so in and thoroughly prospect it.

That American squad will bring the Davis Cup back to the States, mark my words.—Denny Shute retained his P.G.A. golf crown by beating Henry McSpaden at the thirty-seventh. He became the second man in history to win it two straight years.—It took talkative straight years.-It took talkative Burleigh Grimes' team of Brook lyn Dodgers to stop the winning streak of Carl Hubbell. For years the "Goofy" Dodgers have been a menace to the Giants. They robbed them of the pennant two or three years ago.—I understand from Johnny Gow that Gus Son-nenberg won that golf match from Jimmy Todd, city champion, with a flying tackle and a body slam on the eighteenth green.—

THIS PHONE NEVER RINGS

How GAILY her phone used to ting-ting every afternoon at five! "Rob, Bob, your Bob is calling," is seemed to cry! But no more. Today her Bob is courting another. She sits alone and wonders...

Fickle? NO!

Only too often the explanation of a sudden and "unexplainable" neglect is "B.O."

(body odoar). Play safe. Keep pores purified, deadorized with regular Life-buoy baths. You'll love lifebuoy's rich, refreshing, deep-cleansing lather, so abundant even in cold or hard water. You'll find gentle Lifebuoy wonderful for the complexion, too, "Patch" tests on the skins of hundreds of women show it is more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Its fresh, clean scent quickly vanishes as you rinse.

Only too often the explanation of a sudden and "unexplainable" neglect is "R.O." (body adour). Play safe. Keep pores purified, deodorized with regular Lifebuoy baths. You'll love lifebuoy's rich, refreshing, deep-cleansing lather, so abundant even in cold or hard water. You'll find gentle Lifebuoy wonderful for the complexion, too. "Patch" tests on the skins of hundreds of women show it is more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Its fresh, clean scent quickly vanishes as you rinse.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Venerable Bede—In 527, the Scythlan monk Dionisius the Younger established the Christian chronology by suggesting that the birth of Christ be accepted as a starting point for the calculation of the calendar years. At the monastery of St. Paul in Jarrow, England introduced the new chronology in his great Ecclesiastical History, completed about 731. The Father of English Learning was born in 673 and died in 735. lane Dixon Says:

THE WIFE IN TODAY'S LETTER KNEW HOW TO HANDLE THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE AND THEREBY CHANGED A ROVING MAN INTO A DEVOTED HUSBAND

There are more ways of killing a cat than by pus The wife in today's letter is the sort we've all heard about, but example very few of us have the courage to follow.

She killed the cat by leaving the cream jar open at all times, and it lapped up so much cream it died of surfeit.

It takes wisdom, a controlled temper and an indomitable will to administer such treatment, but the records show a high percentage of cures, so we must conclude the results are worth the effort.

I have been married twenty years and have a daughter eighteen. When our child was eleven, my husband found a girl he he could not live without. He went with her for about fou and a half years and was wild about her.

During this time I used a plan of campaign to set things right. It wasn't an easy plan to follow. I found every excuse possible to invite this girl to our home—for week-ends, for Sunday dinners, for fishing trips and picnics. I'd always have a number of people in the party so that my husband and the girl could have pienty of time

HE'S A JEALOUS HUSBAND NOW

Now he can't bear the sight of her. She still comes to our home whenever she feels like it, but he is cured. He won't go anywhere will take it into my head or my heart to pay him back for his folly.

The only damage he has done to our home is that he has lost the respect of our child. As for me, I knew he was human when I married him. We never refer to this stray interval of his, and I know that sometimes he imagines it was only a dream, that he always has been a perfect father and husband.

I am writing this for Constant Reader's benefit. All men are boys, which is what makes them so difficult because you can't spank them as they deserve.

Now my health is not so good and my husband is the most devoted and thoughtful man you ever saw. Also' I chum with my daughter, and no one who meets us for the first time thinks I am her mother. We always are taken for sisters.

NEVER LET A MAN THINK HE HAS WOUNDED YOU-ALWAYS SMILE!-Moth

WIFE DESERVES PRAISE

Comment: Let's all give a rousing cheer for "Mother," who saved her home, outwitted the other woman and changed a foolish man, suffering from a silly love fever, into a devoted and thoughtful husband. She was clever enough and stout enough to try winning the hard way, but almost inevitably the sure way. She found ways and means to get the love thief—we've been talking about love thieves a lot lately—on her husband's nerves. There isn't a man on earth who can stand a woman who gets on his nerves.

woman who gets on his nerves.

So now the husband with the roving eye is suffering pangs of jealousy! I hope they are good sturdy pangs for they will help keep his feet on his own hearthstone, just as the knowledge he has lost the respect of his daughter will keep him on his toes, trying to retrieve his loss.

I'm interested, too, in the other woman, the girl who thought she was pretty cute, winning her way into the heart of a home. I'd like to know more of her. Please tell us, "Mother," how she is taking the New Deal that followed the Raw Deal. My bet is that she's making a nuisance of herself.

Thanks for giving us your experience and many happy returns of happiest day! Copyright, 1937, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
